

September 18, 1952

Eaton Laboratories
Norwich
New York

Dear Sirs,

During the summer I had the opportunity of working with Dr. Wacław Szybalski of the Long Island Biological Laboratories. It became apparent that resistance to furadoxyl, MF-67, would serve as an excellent study in quantitative inheritance in the bacterium Escherichia coli. The genetic aspect of the resistance problem was therefore relegated to me. Would it be possible to obtain this chemical from your corporation?

Sincerely yours,

Thomas C. Nelson
Project Associate

2/ P+G
6/84